

State Approves Setting Up Of Mountain School Jointure

July Fixed For Start Of Operations

THE STATE gave full approval to the Pocono Mountains Jointure yesterday.

With final approval from the Department of Public Instruction out of the way, the joint school system will be able to go into legal operation in July of this year.

Step Toward Achievement

State endorsement of the jointure was announced by Ralph C. Swan, deputy superintendent of the department. Swan's official notice said:

"The Department of Public Instruction has reviewed the petition of the school districts of Barre, Pocono, Tobyhanna and Tunkhannock Townships and Mount Pocono Borough. This petition was recently submitted by the Monroe County Board of School Directors.

"Since this proposal appears to be a step toward the ultimate achievement of the Monroe County Plan, with respect to Administrative Unit No. 2, embracing the school districts specified above together with Buck Township of Luzerne County, approval is hereby granted in accordance with the provisions of Section 1701 of the School Laws with the following conditions: That if and when Buck Township . . . seeks membership in this organization, it shall be admitted.

"It should be noted that this approval does not assure the payment of supplemental appropriations as provided in Section 2342 of the School Laws. Such payments will depend upon compliance with the standards adopted by the State Council of Education as required by law and will be based on an evaluation of the program offered during the first full school term under joint organization and each year thereafter. Nor does this approval assure that a room schedule will be issued for school building facilities.

Four Units

The "county plan" referred to by Swan is a system approved by the State and county for dividing Monroe school districts into a series of four administrative units.

The basic aim of the county plan system is to provide larger and more centralized administration of schools and a uniformly higher standard for the curriculum offered. A by-product of such school district combinations is, generally, a new, centrally-located secondary school building serving students of all the districts.

Two of the four administrative units in the approved county plan have already gone into effect. The first of these—the Stroud Union School District made up of Stroudsburg, Stroud Township and Delaware Water Gap—was approved by voters in the three districts in November, 1954. It went into legal effect on the first Tuesday in July last year.

The second is the East Stroudsburg Area Jointure. Members here are East Stroudsburg, Smithfield, Middle Smithfield, Price, Lehman and Porter Townships. It was formed early in 1955 by vote of the boards; went into effect in July, that year.

Not yet in effect

Of the three major types of school combination, jointure is the simplest to bring about. It requires only the agreement of the boards involved; county board approval and the State department's okay must follow.

Although Buck Township in Luzerne County is not yet in effect in July, that year.

Nixon Marks 43rd Birthday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Vice President Nixon got plaudits from Republicans—and some influential backing for second place on an Eisenhower ticket—on his 43rd birthday today.

Democratic reaction to a brief GOP salute to Nixon in the Senate was polite but cool. Nixon has been under fire from top Democrats who contend he implied in the 1954 campaign that their party was soft on communism.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, called the Senate's attention to Nixon's birthday. Nixon was presiding when Knowland—who might find himself contesting with the vice president for top place on this year's GOP ticket if President Eisenhower doesn't run—praised Nixon's "long and distinguished career."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, arose to join politely in wishing the vice president many happy birthdays. He said that Nixon was "always courteous, always fair" in presiding over the Senate.

When Johnson sat down no other Democrats arose to join in the Nixon tribute. Only Sens. Wiley (R-Wis.) and Kuchel (R-Calif.) got in a good word for the vice president before the Senate went ahead with routine business.

Virginia Voters Give 2-1 Edge To Measure Aimed At Mixing Of Races In Schools

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 9 (AP)—Virginia voters gave an emphatic push today to a plan aimed at preventing compulsory mixing of the races in public schools.

By a margin of more than 2-1 they directed the General Assembly to call a convention to amend the state constitution so state money may be used for tuition grants.

A number of sections chalked up record votes in a statewide turnout surpassed only by the 620,000 recorded by the Eisenhower landslide in Virginia in 1952. It was a decisive go-ahead for the first step on a plan recommended by a study commission that includes pupil assignment for reasons other than race as well as the tuition grants.

Both advocates and opponents of the convention call predicted the issue would carry with a margin of about 3-2.

Polk Township High Students Among Winners At Farm Show

THIRTEEN MONROE COUNTY high school students have taken prizes at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, being held this week in Harrisburg.

Judy Getz, Polk Township High School, won 10 prizes for her food and clothing entries, according to Wilmer Frisbie, vocational agricultural supervisor for county schools.

Robins Sighted During Icestorm At Henryville

NOT ONE, but two robins, a male and a female, brightened a dreary, icy-sheathed morning for Mrs. Charles Bennett, Henryville yesterday.

First one appeared with a group of starlings. It started to take a bath in a puddle of water near the Bennett home, then came the other. Mrs. Bennett, cheered by the hardy robins, called her husband to witness the two birds.

And she hopes they're a good omen for brighter, less icy days.

Leader Opens 40th Annual Farm Show

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (AP)—Undaunted by an ice storm and bitter winds, Pennsylvania farmers today ushered in the 40th annual State Farm Show—the nation's top indoor agricultural classic.

An all night freezing drizzle slicked roads leading to the 14-acre farm show buildings with ice, cutting the crowd to an estimated post World War II low of 65,000. Half a million visitors are expected before the show closes Friday night. There is no admission at any time.

A standing room crowd of 10,000 in the main arena heard Gov. Leader proclaim the exposition "the greatest ever."

Farming For Freedom

The chief executive—first farmer-governor in 120 years—formally dedicated the farm show and its six million dollars worth of exhibits to the theme "farming for freedom."

"Nature blessed Pennsylvania with good soil and good farmers," the governor declared.

"The quality of farm goods under this roof of both testimony and tribute to Pennsylvania agricultural workers, Pennsylvania is the highest farm state in the country," the former York County poultry farmer said, "but it is the best farm state."

Pennsylvania Congressmen To Offer Bills Calling For Income Tax Cut This Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Talk of income tax reduction grew louder in Congress today with announcement by Rep. Saylor (R-Pa.) that he will press for individual tax cuts at this session.

Saylor said he will introduce in the House tomorrow a pair of alternate bills which would (a) increase personal tax exemptions from $600 to $700 or (b) give all taxpayers a straight 10 per cent cut in their present tax bill.

Seeks Support

He promised to "enlist every means of support that can possibly be mustered" to win approval of "whichever of the measures appears to have the better chance" of passage.

Saylor's announcement followed the weekend assertion of Republican House Leader Martin of Massachusetts that "I still have hope" for a tax cut as well as for paying

But southside Virginia—where the Negro population is heaviest and anti-integration feeling the strongest—rolled up lopsided margins for the convention. Northern Virginia, where the opposition strength was massed, went against the plan as forecast but in strength far short of that needed to balance the downstate bulge.

Returns from 1,677 of the state's 1,862 voting places gave the convention call 287,838, while 136,110 were against it.

Three boys won prizes in the honey exhibits. They are Reginald Cain, Polk High School; extracted light amber honey, third prize, $3; amber, third, $3; and dark amber second, $4. Donald Mack, Pen Argyl; light combed honey, seventh, $1; extracted light amber, second, $4. Robert Duran, Pen Argyl; extracted light amber, first, $5.

The following home-making students at Polk High School also took prizes:

Prince To Wed Actress In April

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Jan. 9 (AP)—A government official announced tonight Prince Rainier III and film star Grace Kelly will be married in Monaco in April.

The announcement came from Paul Noghes, chief of Rainier's private cabinet. He said there will be two ceremonies—one civil and religious—and both will be performed here. Precise dates of the ceremonies were not given.

The engagement of the 32-year-old Prince and Miss Kelly, 26, was announced last Thursday. Both are in the United States.

off some of the national debt this year.

Martin said he saw no basic disagreement between his views and President Eisenhower's position that tax reduction should take second place to some repayment, "even though modest," on the national debt.

Martin said he thought a tax cut, debt reduction and a balanced budget go hand in hand, and said he personally believed it would be "better for our country" to cut taxes if a budget surplus develops as anticipated.

Saylor's proposals, both of which have support in the House as methods of tax cutting, probably would reduce the government's tax revenue by 2½ to 3 billion dollars a year. His proposal to increase personal exemptions by $100 parallels that of Sen. George D-Ga.).

Freezing Rain Ices Roads, Sidewalks

MORE THAN 100 tons of sand were sprayed across Monroe County highways yesterday as freezing rain and sleet made driving, and walking a nightmare.

Although the thermometer was rising last night, state police urged motorists to continue to exercise caution because roads were still slippery—and dangerous—in spots.

The worst tie-up reported yesterday resulted when employees at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot made their way home at a snail's pace. State police said there was an hour-long tie-up either way on Route 611, and on the road between Tobyhanna and Gouldsboro.

The American House reported that buses coming from Buffalo, Binghamton and other upstate New York points were arriving behind schedule last night.

Bridge Cinkered

Two trucks reportedly jackknifed on the Seventh St. bridge in Stroudsburg yesterday. But there was no danger and Highway Department workers quickly cinkered the span.

During the day, the Highway Department engaged the services of 150 men, 30 trucks, two loaders and two shovels to make the county's 496 miles of road safe for driving. But it was a tough job.

The Highway Department used the huge quantity of sand to determine whether it offered better protection than cinders. No salt was used during yesterday's operations.

A Highway Department spokesman said sanding crews would have to remain on duty throughout the night in mountain areas, and lower sections of the county would at least have to continue to be patrolled.

Warmer Temperatures

State police at Mount Pocono reported at 10 p. m. that main roads within their jurisdiction were wet and slippery in spots, while secondary roads were "icy." Fern Ridge State Police said last night that roads there were still "very bad."

Rain was reported to be falling last night on the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The roadway was said to be icy, but was being cinkered. The 9 p. m. temperature was 36°.

The Weatherman had some welcome news to report last night. While the mercury had dipped to 15.8 at Mount Pocono and to 29 degrees at Stroudsburg yesterday morning, it had risen to 44 at Stroudsburg by 10 p. m., and to 39 degrees at Mount Pocono.

Cold Weather Damages Many Florida Crops

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 9 (AP)—South Florida's coldest weather of the winter season cleared beaches along the usually balmy lower east coast today and caused heavy damage to tender truck crops in many parts of the state.

Continued cold and frost were forecast for tomorrow, with the same wide variations in temperatures caused by fluctuation in wind velocities.

Tallahassee had 44 degrees at midnight, while Miami shivered with a high of only 58 during the afternoon.

Morning temperature readings along the lower east coast ranged from 32 to 36, with 27 to 30 degrees in some spots. North Florida had lows of 25 to 30, with a few 22-degree recordings.

His fairly busy day in the executive wing of the White House, Eisenhower also sandwiched in the sending of greetings to Vice President Nixon on his 43rd birthday.

He sent to Congress by special message his already controversial "soil bank" plan for farmers, dispatched 155 nominations to the Senate, and conferred on his economic message, due in Congress two weeks from today.

Compares Tax Aid

He said loss of revenue from his proposals would be about one-half of what is asked for foreign aid in the next year, and declared:

"Other countries of the world have been principal beneficiaries (of the U.S. debt), and under the circumstances Congress should reduce or eliminate the program which exports our tax dollars. By doing so, our own people may better enjoy the fruits of their labor."

THEY SKATE IN WHERE DRIVERS FEAR TO SKID—Yesterday most everybody who gets where he's going by sitting behind a wheel used his better judgment and stayed off the highway. That was fine with these Wooddale youngsters. They picked up their ice skates, buckled 'em on and took to the open road. Ice was formed in thick coats on the highway, gave them their first straight open stretch for a skating rink. By mid-afternoon, a steadily-falling rain had removed part of the treachery from the ice. There was still the likelihood the "rain" would freeze again last night. Who knows? Maybe Monroe County roads will be ice-skating rinks again today. Dog on the right in photo is non-skater. Two Killed On N. E. Pike ALLENTOWN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Police reported an automobile skidded across the median strip of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Northeast Extension into another car today, killing two persons.

It was the first fatal crash on the new road.

The dead were identified as Benjamin Brook, driver of the skidding car, and Paul Springer, 38, a passenger, both of Philadelphia.

Richard Evans, 50, of Coaldale, Pa., son of former Turnpike Commission Chairman T. J. Evans, was seriously injured in the crash. His wife, Isabelle, 50, and Jane Herrington, 5, who lives with the Evanses, were also injured.

Police said the Evanses were riding with Daniel Daido, also of Coaldale, who suffered a possible fracture of the left knee. Daido and the Evanses were taken to Coaldale Hospital.

Ike Takes Work Home

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower put in a regular working day today—and then took some work "home" with him.

Closing out his first full day at the presidential desk since his Sept. 24 heart attack, Eisenhower also scheduled for 9 a. m. tomorrow a resumption of his weekly meetings with Republican congressional leaders.

Pres. Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President knocked off office work on printers' proofs of his economic message to Congress—to be delivered Jan. 23—about 4 p. m. and returned to the living quarters of the executive mansion. Hagerty said he took some of the proofs with him for further study this evening.

Into his fairly busy day in the executive wing of the White House, Eisenhower also sandwiched in the sending of greetings to Vice President Nixon on his 43rd birthday.

He sent to Congress by special message his already controversial "soil bank" plan for farmers, dispatched 155 nominations to the Senate, and conferred on his economic message, due in Congress two weeks from today.

Fewer Crops Urged Until Surpluses Drop

By Ovid A. Martin
Associated Press Farm Reporter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today a billion-dollar soil bank plan to reduce crop land about 12 per cent until surpluses are absorbed and farm prices rise again. He blamed the surpluses for shrinking farm income.

As had been anticipated, this soil bank proposal was No. 1 in a nine-point program the President laid before Congress to strengthen the administration's controversial flexible price support system.

Democratic Campaign Material

Democrats contend that the administration's program is inadequate to protect agriculture and they hope to make farm troubles a major issue in this year's elections. They have already made Secretary of Agriculture Benson a particular target.

In a special message to Congress on agriculture, Eisenhower declared that there is need for "maximum speed" to alter an economic situation in which farmers "find their prices and incomes depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity."

He said that unless this situation is corrected, the well being of all Americans will be threatened.

Taken as a whole, the President's program offered little prospect of bringing about a big boost in farm returns ahead of this year's elections—a thing that many farm-area congressmen had hoped for. The new proposals appeared unlikely to bring noticeable increases in prices and farm income before 1957.

40 Million Acres

Eisenhower said he expected at least 40 million acres of the nation's 350 million acres of cropland would be taken out of production under the soil bank plan. The result, he said, would be fewer crops, a halt in the accumulation of price-depressing surpluses and an improvement in prices.

Farmers would be encouraged to reduce acreages through the offer of government payments in the form of cash and surplus crops. These payments—which Agriculture Department officials estimated would total about one billion dollars this year with maximum farmer participation—would be designed to help compensate farmers for revenue they would lose on land idled under the program.

"It would be grossly unfair," Eisenhower said, "to require farmers to bear the full burdens of this readjustment. Just as other readjustments from war were shouldered in a considerable part by the nation as a whole, so should this."

These payments would be around three-quarters of a billion dollars more than were paid directly to farmers last year, but they would fall short of offsetting an estimated decline of $1,200,000,000 in farm income.

Explains Soil Bank

Eisenhower gave this example of how the soil bank plan would work in cases where payments in surpluses were authorized:

"A farmer, with a planting allotment of 100 acres of wheat, for example, may choose to plant only 80 acres and put the remaining 20 acres in non-crop and non-grazing use, but held available for planting later should market needs arise. His acreage allotment would not be affected for use in determining allotments in later years."

In return for his cooperation toward reducing the wheat surplus, the farmer would receive a government certificate whose value would be based on the normal amount of wheat he would have produced on the 20 idled acres. He could cash the certificate, or redeem it in surplus government wheat.

Longest In State

Sleeman's name was presented. All members of council stood up as a body and cast their "vote" for the elderly secretary—believed to have served longer in a municipal post of this kind than any other man in the State.

Burgess Hayden Pritchard praised Sleeman for his devotion to duty and his outstanding efficiency in the job.

Sleeman first came to the post in January, 1904. He has been secretary of this borough ever since. And he hasn't missed one council meeting in all that time.

Strike Talks Set

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (AP)—Another meeting of company and union officials was set up today for Wednesday in an effort to end the Westinghouse Electric Corp. walk-out, now in its 13th week.

Members of both parties came forward with suggestions for expanding the program, which was laid before Congress today in Eisenhower's first special message of the new session. Almost all of them agreed the problem should be tackled on a nonpartisan basis.

ROBERT REEVES, manager of the Firestone store in East Stroudsburg, and his wife were entertained in Honolulu, Hawaii, their reward for the former winning a nationwide sales contest conducted by the parent company. Before their arrival in Honolulu, the Shawnee couple visited Los Angeles and spent a day watching the Rose Parade and Rose Bowl game in Pasadena. They and 240 other national winners completed their trip by winging their way to San Francisco for a round of sight-seeing before returning home.

Stocks Make Widest Break In 3 Months

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (P)—Prices tumbled in a late flurry of selling in the stock market today, and many blue chips were clipped for sizable losses. It was the biggest drop in three months.

All sections of the list were engulfed by the slide, but the steels, motors, aircrafts and railroads were sold freely.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $2.40 at $176.90. The market's record high is $181.50 established Sept. 23 and reached again Dec. 5 and 6.

The industrial component of today's average was down $3.80, rails were off $2.00, and utilities dropped back 50 cents.

The market was unusually broad with 1,228 individual issues traded. Only 236 managed to advance while 790 declined. Twenty-seven stocks reached new highs for 1955-56 during the day, the nine touched new lows.

Volume came to 2,700,000 shares as compared with 2,570,000 shares traded Friday when the market was higher.

International Telephone, up 1½ Friday on merger rumors, was off ¼ today at 31½ on $2,900 shares as the day's most active issue. It was followed by General Motors off ¼ at 44, Westinghouse Electric off ¼ at 57½, and Atlantic Refining up ¼ at 38½.

Other losers were Bethlehem Steel off 3¼ at 159½, Chrysler 2¼, General Dynamics 1¼, North American Aviation 2¼, Lockheed

30 Persons Exhibiting Arts, Crafts At Show This Week

ARTS AND CRAFTS representing the skills of some 30 men and women members of the Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen are being displayed throughout this week on the second floor of A. B. Wyckoff. The show is running simultaneously with the store's 19th annual art show, and both will close Saturday night.

The craftsman's exhibit brings to this area many valuable and unusual items covering a wide range of activities. There are many yards of hand-woven materials, both for home decoration and wearing apparel, handwrought silver jewelry and hollowware, figured silk-screened and fabrics, hooked rugs, unusual pottery, enamel ware, wood carvings, handmade lace, and wrought-iron ware. The exhibit was arranged through the efforts of John Weikel, of Palmerton, president of the state organization.

Exhibitors in the various categories follow: Enamel: Robert Doney, Pen Argyl, and Nilda R. Walters, Haddonfield, N. J.; hand-weaving: Ruth F. Dewees, Newtown Square; Janet Eshelman, Rohrerstown; Mrs. Jay Willard Lord, Ithaca; Mrs. Lula Renold, Hungerford; Dorothy Sherry, Allentown and Thelma Hackenberry, Williamsport; hooked rugs: Harriet McGinnis, Kintnersville; leather: Janet Eshelman, Rohrerstown; printed fabric: Hester Cunningham, Upper Darby; pottery: Marjorie Dutton, Wallingford;

Y Workers Enroll 93 Members

First Report Meeting Held By Workers

THE 1956 membership campaign of the Monroe County YMCA got off to a good start last night despite the fact that unfavorable weather conditions cut down the attendance of workers.

At their first report meeting, the workers reported 93 new members and a total of $1,045.50 in cash had been obtained. Goal is 500 members.

Rev. John A. Bollier, pastor of the First Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, a division leader, conducted the devotion.

At the opening of the business session, Mary Jane Gilpin and Pamela Bonser presented a dialogue based on the fun young people get through Y membership. They also presented the humorous prizes given various winners.

Rev. Bollier's Division 1 was seriously affected by weather conditions and had a small turnout. They reported 5 members and $10 cash.

Divisions 2, 4 High

J. L. Cohen's Division 2 turned in 32 members and $471 cash. Division 3, under direction of Thomas L. Kistler, reported 13 members and $167 cash. Herbert Yutz' Division 4 teams secured a total of 43 members and $367.50 in cash.

There was an amusing feature following the compiling of totals when prizes of a varied nature were presented to teams and team members.

Top were the Cohen division teams in finances and Yutz' in numbers secured. Mrs. Alberta Yutz' team secured the largest number of members. James Kistler and Joe Kovarik were honored for securing the largest sums of money.

The co-chairmen, Alex L. Benninger and Horace G. Walters led discussions and brought out matters of interest to the workers. The latter said totals for the first report meeting showed 18.68 per cent of goal reached which under the weather conditions was considered good.

Confidence Expressed

John R. Wilson, general secretary, expressed his opinion that the results were typical "first night standards." He said he believed that the goal aimed at would be reached.

Fran Shinn brought out how the Y was of value to the individual members as a result of taking part in the activities program and providing leadership which he considered of great worth. He gave various suggestions in soliciting memberships.

The various leaders held a brief conference at the close of the meeting when they discussed situations they had met with in the campaign. Many workers selected additional cards from the racks in the meeting room. Announcement was made that after Friday night's meeting, which will be the second report session of the campaign, workers would be permitted to contact any one they cared to and would not be held to the cards originally selected. The final report meeting is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 16, at 6 p. m.

There will be various prizes awarded Friday night, including a "bedroom suite" for the person who has secured the greatest number of members during the drive up to that time.

In answer to a question of how to handle memberships at the close of the campaign, it was stated by General Secretary Wilson, persons interested in affiliating with the organization, to call at the Y office where all information desired would be furnished. Special memberships, such as sustaining, are available, it was pointed out. Sustaining memberships are $50 and $100.

Regular Board Meeting Tonight. The monthly board meeting of the Y will be held tonight at 8 in the new Y building. The result of balloting for directors will be announced. The ballot box will be open at the Y from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. All members 18 years of age and over are eligible to vote. E. Holt Wyckoff, board president, said there is much business on the agenda for the meeting tonight and he urged a large attendance of members.

Two Injured As Car Skids Off Route 115

TWO PERSONS were injured yesterday afternoon when their truck overturned after skidding on an icy patch on Route 115 two miles south of Fern Ridge.

State police said the driver, James Winters, 53, Newton, suffered a deep laceration on the right ankle, while a passenger, identified as Virginia Winters, received a scalp laceration and bruises of both legs.

Troopers said Winters was traveling south about 2 p. m. when the vehicle went into a skid, went off the west side of the road and then overturned.

Damage was estimated at $300.

Driver's 1922 Learner's Permit No Good In 1956

LEWISTOWN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Hurley Treaster, about 50, of nearby Decatur Twp., was sentenced to 3 to 6 months in Mifflin County jail today after telling Judge Paul S. Lehman that he has been driving without a license since 1922.

State police said Treaster, a part time borough laborer and part time farmer, has been arrested and fined several times for driving without a license in the last five or 10 years. He has always been fined previously.

In court Treaster admitted that he could not read or write but said that he could understand traffic signals and signs. He explained that he had obtained a learner's permit in 1922 but after failing to pass the exam had never sought a license again.

1956 Activities To Be Planned

THE FIRST meeting of 1956 for St. John's Commandery will be held tonight at 8 in Malta Temple. All members are asked to be present. Activities for the year will be set up after committees named to make arrangements file their report.

Liquor Board Suspends License

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (AP)—The state Liquor Control Board today suspended a number of licenses for the reasons it cited:

Effective Jan. 31: Wilmer L. Vogt, Mountainhome, Monroe County, 20 days; Sunday sales; permitted dancing on days or during hours when the sale of liquor and or malt brewed beverages was prohibited.

Too Realistic

BLIND RIVER, Ont., Jan. 9 (AP)—Peggy Clark, 4, fired up her toy stove with some honest-to-goodness fuel. Her parents managed to put out the blaze, but not until all of Peggy's toys and the interior of her bedroom were burned.

Juveniles Admit Burglarizing Two Local Establishments

TWO 15-YEAR-OLD New Jersey youngsters, picked up by authorities in Springfield, Ohio late last week, have admitted breaking into two twin-borough establishments New Year's Day, police said last night. Local authorities received word that the juveniles had confessed to burglarizing the Richfield Service Station on W. Main St., Stroudsburg, and Ehrlich's Market, S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Police said the teen-agers walked off with $35 in cash and five cartons of cigarettes from the gas station. However, only some cold cuts were taken at the market, which was ransacked.

Returned To Homes

The juveniles were returned to their Livingston, N. J., homes by their parents, and are expected to face prosecution for several burglaries in the neighborhood state.

Stroudsburg Police Chief James McConnell indicated that he would probably seek restitution for the cash and merchandise taken at the gas station.

Ohio authorities picked up the pair after the stolen car in which they were riding was involved in an accident.

113 Deaths Investigated

DR. CHARLES H. Rushmore, Monroe County coroner, investigated 113 cases during 1955. Of this total 67 were due to the August 18-19 floods in this area. The following is a breakdown of figures contained in the coroner's annual report to county officials.

Of the 46 deaths not due to the flood the majority were listed by the coroner as accidental. Violent death accounted for 98 of those listed on the coroner's books; 92 were termed accidental.

Of the non-accidental cases (six) five were termed suicide. Four of these were caused by gun-shot wounds.

15 Auto Deaths

Automobile deaths totaled 13 during the year; six were drivers, six were passengers and one was a pedestrian. Besides the 65 drownings during the flood, Monroe County had five additional drowning cases.

Medical cases in which the coroner filed a report following an autopsy totaled 19. Of these 15 deaths were due to cardiovascular disease.

Miscellaneous deaths were due to burning (two), injury (three) and hanging (two).

Day St. Man Sent To Jail

BUELL HUNT, 26, 146 Day St., East Stroudsburg, has been committed to the Monroe County Jail for 30 days on a disorderly conduct charge.

Hunt was committed to jail following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Marshall Neyhart.

TB Society Still $2,000 Short Of Goal

RETURNS from Christmas Seals reached $10,507.24 yesterday—slightly less than $2,000 short of the goal.

Horace G. Heller, president of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society, repeated an earlier plea to those who received the seals to "send purchase money in as quickly as possible."

"The extensive health program planned by the society depends entirely upon money received from sale of Christmas Seals," Heller said. "For this reason it is absolutely necessary that the $12,500 goal be reached. Unless it is attained, the society may be forced to cut down on some aspects of its county-wide TB prevention and health program."

Heller urged all persons to "look through their desks, Christmas mail and those letters pushed aside during the rush of the season" and to make return of purchase money for the seals.

The society has planned a broad health program intended to reach every man, woman and child in the county over a period of a year or more. The major portion of the society's effort is concentrated in the field of the chest x-ray.

This system of x-raying is valuable not only in the detection of TB, but in the early discovery of other chest diseases such as lung cancer and heart disease.

Because of this, the society works hand in hand with local doctors, the family physician and other specialized health organizations in the interests of all persons in the community.

That "Most Important Thoroughfare" May Have Been The Least Important

Everybody's road, street or alley was THE MOST IMPORTANT yesterday morning when Mother Nature dumped a mixture of snow, sleet then freezing rain all over the Pocono Mountains region.

Some of us stayed home. Others braved the icy sheeting and got to work, some on time and others not so much on time. Caution, mixed with impatience was the temper of the morning.

In the face of our impatience and the belief our thoroughfare was the most important, the state highway crews and street forces, along with some of the township forces, moved out with cinders to hit the icy curves, the sharp grades and intersections.

All of these forces have a previously designated pattern known as "winter operations." They're plotted in the summer as the most dangerous spots in the territory. And that's where the crews strike first in their winter safety program.

So, if you were delayed, or didn't even move, remember these state and municipal forces have a well studied plan of operations which they carry out first. Then they move, as they did yesterday, to that most important thoroughfare we call our own.

The Penalty Of Progress Under Income Tax Rules Delineated By TV Give-Aways

Look down your nose at the big TV give-away games, if you like. They have done more to diagram the income tax situation than two generations of patient explanation.

The winner of $32,000 gets to keep less than half. If he had as much as $4000 income from other sources, his taxes would be $15,400, leaving him $16,600.

That still is quite a bit of money and worth trying for.

But if he went for the $64,000 and won, he would be taxed another $23,292. He would keep but $40,708 of the extra $32,000.

On first thought it seems unfair that a person in moderate circumstances, winning a big prize, shouldn't be able to keep it. But the law requires all to be treated alike. However you get the money, Uncle Sam gets his share.

If the further implications of a tax system which snatches away prizes are understood, we may be on our way toward appreciation of a tough problem in economics.

Businesses are built, employment expanded and living standards improved through a process not unlike that used on the $64,000 question. A person or group of persons have a little money—like the $1000 the contestant had in hand on his way to the big question.

These people take their little money and risk it in a business, hoping for big rewards.

They are confronted with precisely the tax question confronting the TV contestants. Should they bank what they have or try for more? If they try for more and win, the income tax will take most of it. It may seem like a bad bet, hence it is refused and progress is handicapped.

George Sokolsky Says...

It Is Conservative Professor Who Is Out Of Step, Unpopular On The Campus

Now that the Cold War is on again, it is no longer impolite to look into the methods by which the Russians seek to accomplish their ends in this country.

The most useful method is infiltration, which means the utilization of natives to influence, if not control, the minds not only of current but of succeeding generations. Only the Russians are able to use this method because of their control of the Communist Party in every country.

This need not be accomplished exclusively through Communists but preferably through educators, publicists and other forensic personalities who, for good or bad reasons, misinterpret the Russian aims and thereby serve their purpose.

Professor E. Merrill Root has written a competent and daring "Collectivism on the Campus," with a subtitle "The battle for the mind in American colleges." It is a thoughtful and thought-provoking book particularly for parents who constantly wonder how their children got that way—by that way, meaning so antagonistic to everything that the parents thought they understood to be American.

It is astounding that Professor Root dared to write this book since the current style is for professors and others who call themselves intellectuals to insist upon a universal conformity to their fashions, which consist of an acceptance of Marxism as inevitable.

able, of Humanism as the only true faith, and of environmentalism as the total explanation of the Cosmos and all that is therein.

It is therefore the conservative professor who is out of step and unpopular on the campus. Professor Root says of this:

"The collectivist attack, whether by Communists, fellow travelers, or Fabians, is so nearly overwhelming that few professors dare affirm what Emerson called 'the infinitude of the private man,' our major academic heresy."

"Yet, even so, a few professors remain who are skeptical of the omnipotent State and of economics as the essential factor in all human affairs—culture, philosophy, artistic, religious. They hold an older, deeper faith. And, as radical conservatives, they refuse to be Laodicean and passive; they will speak even if their heads to be unbowed, must be bloody."

He quotes President Emeritus William Cullen Dennis of Earlham College who said: "... a conservative professor, if dismissed, will have no talking point to use as a shield, because his dismissal by supposedly 'conservative' authorities will never be attributed to any 'ideas' he holds. The conservative professor, moreover, will have no militant and vocal group to leap to his defense. The result naturally is that college presidents or trustees to-day will always hesitate and fear to dismiss a 'liberal' or even a 'radical' collectivist from their college, but that they will never hesitate to dismiss a conservative professor if he is incompetent. ... Today the 'liberal' professor is almost sure to be retained even

Contemplation Of Taxes, Christmas Bills Rough

This is the time of year when contemplation of Christmas bills and tax obligations tends to leave a person emotionally drained, physically pooped and mentally wracked.

At such times the twitching mind focuses poorly and is wont to dwell lackadaisically on odds and ends of little moment.

This probably explains why I have just been pondering a matter which ordinarily receives little attention—although possibly as much as it deserves.

Did you ever stop to consider how many people have your picture stuck away in their private snapshot collections?

Unless you're a photography fiend your own accumulation of snapshots probably doesn't contain a single picture of you that you feel really catches your true personality. But you can bet there are some dandies of you in other people's scrapbooks.

You could hardly miss, with all the amateur shutterbugs swarming around everywhere you go. It would be impossible to determine how many, of course, but undoubtedly there are hundreds of cherished photographs, stashed away here and there all over the world, in which you appear more or less prominently as an unidentified stranger.

A middle-aged blimp in shorts aims her Brownie at the breathtaking panorama from the edge of the Grand Canyon and comes home with a shot of you perched on a nearby rock, feeding chipmunks.

A traveling salesman presses the button on his movie camera and gets a 50-foot film record of MacArthur returning to Washington in triumph—and you munching a banana.

Things like that happen all the time. A person who moves around any at all just can't help cluttering up a certain percentage of the film exposed by strangers who have no way of shooing him out of range.

And the ironic part of it is that lots of those pictures other people take of you inadvertently, or because they can't avoid it, would give you more personal satisfaction than the pictures you've taken yourself.

The average amateur can buy better photographs of the world's famous scenes than he can make with his own camera. Usually amateur shots are preferable only if they tie him into those scenes, and they can't do that if he's working the camera.

Many of the snapshots you really would like to have—you at the top of Pikes Peak, you on the porch at Mount Vernon, you carving your initials on the Washington monument, and the like—are taken by other amateur photographers without your even knowing it. They are shown only to people who can't appreciate them because they don't know you from a load of oats.

Too bad there isn't some sort of exchange system that would get them to where they'd be fully admired.

Samuel Hopkins Adams, 81-year-old author of "It Happened One Night," "Flaming Youth," and other best-sellers, had a grandfather who actually helped build the Erie Canal. This grandfather also had a friend whose wife in nearby Troy invented the linen collar. He disliked, however, new-fangled rail-way trains, and didn't hold out much hope of success for a "feller named Eastman" who had invented "some kind of darn fool picture box" up Rochester way.

A Brooklyn, N. Y., police station house had an irate caller who reported that an irate persisted in ringing his doorbell and asking if he had any empty boxes. "Any reason they should pick on you?" asked the lieutenant.

"None I can think of," said the complainant, "unless it's my occupation." Seems he's an undertaker.

Ike Weighs Amendment To Make Allies A-Equipped

Washington, Jan. 10 — President Eisenhower is weighing a fateful nuclear decision.

It is whether to recommend to Congress that the Atomic Energy Act be amended to permit arming our NATO allies with atomic warheads.

They already have been tentatively promised the weapons for such warheads.

These armaments include F-86, F-100 and other latest-type fighter-bombers, capable of carrying nuclear munitions, atomic field guns, and "Honest John" guided missiles.

This tentative commitment was made by Secretary Dulles at the NATO foreign ministers conference in Paris last month. He was accompanied there by Defense Secretary Wilson, Treasury Secretary Humphrey, and Admiral Radford, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Atomic Energy Act of 1954 flatly prohibits giving foreign countries either atomic warheads or information concerning their production. Removal of this legal barrier would require considerable revision of this law by Congress. That's what the President and his military, diplomatic and atomic advisers are deliberating on the basis of what transpired at the hush-hush NATO parley.

This was the vigorous insistence of our allies that they be equipped with atomic arms—both the weapons and the warheads (shells, bombs, etc.) for them.

In pressing this demand, the allied leaders stressed three points:

(1) In the past, U. S. supremacy in nuclear armament made it unnecessary for the other NATO members to have their own nuclear forces. (2) But Russia's development of the hydrogen bomb has "neutralized" American supremacy, and thus largely outmoded the conventional military forces and equipment of the allies. (3) Therefore, it has become imperative that they be provided with atomic arms for early training in their use.

Secretaries Dulles and Wilson agreed on the validity of these arguments, and promised to do their utmost to supply the NATO countries with atomic weapons.

West Germany is included in this commitment; there are no exceptions to it. The newly-launched German army will get the same atomic equipment that is given other NATO allies.

Note: It was overlooked at the time, but the concluding communiqué at the Paris conference contains a pointed hint of these promises, as follows: "There was a firm determination by all the member governments to see to it that their forces are equipped with the most modern weapons."

Physically Handicapped Art Tests

—by H. G. Heller

Physically disabled Commonwealth citizens are eligible to participate in a National Art Contest for the Handicapped, the first of its type ever held, the State Bureau of Rehabilitation announced today.

John R. Torquato, State Secretary of Labor and Industry and Executive Officer of the Bureau of Rehabilitation, said the contest is just starting and that entries will be accepted up until midnight May 1. Awards totaling $1,000, including a $1,000 first prize, will be given to the various winners.

All amateur handicapped artists are eligible. Torquato pointed out, for purposes of the contest, a handicapped person is defined as one whose ability to function in normal day-to-day activities is impaired substantially by disease, congenital condition or injury. To qualify as an amateur, an applicant must not earn the major portion of his or her income as an artist.

All work must be submitted in either oil, water, gouache or tempera on canvas or paper. Entries must be mailed at the expense of the contestant to the National Art Contest for the Handicapped, c/o Morris Morgenstern Foundation, 119 West 5th Street, New York, New York.

The contest is sponsored by the Federal Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped, and the Veterans Administration along with the Morris Morgenstern Foundation, a philanthropic organization.

"Our handicapped citizens who have even the slightest aptitude are afforded an excellent opportunity to gain valuable experience and State and National recognition through this contest," Torquato said. "No matter how small or elaborate an individual's painting may be, it most certainly should be entered in this contest."

If additional information is required by handicapped individuals, they are advised to contact their local Rehabilitation District Office. They are located in Altoona, DuBois, Erie, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport and Johnstown.

The Editor, of the Daily Record, Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Mr. Heller,

Thinking persons will well consider the recent statement from Secretary Benson's Farm Administration Office, informing us that: "The spread between what the American farmer receives for his product, and what the American housewife pays for the same product across store counters is now 85% greater than when the war closed in the year 1945."

The largeness of this spread must be seen as a very vital factor. Its size is not far from doubling the 1945 figures. We ask: Does not the major portion of the American farm problem focus here? For it is fast becoming evident that the farmer's product is no longer a justifiable livelihood and product for himself. Neither can it be considered as for the consumer. Rather forcibly the understanding begins to dawn upon us that the product of American farms, more and more is first becoming a boon for the technique experts and the many concerns engaged in technological processing, packaging and development of untold marketing gimmicks now placed before American housewives on food-store shelves.

It is so much so, that the farm part in the process can hardly be longer recognized. Moreover, the housewife is continually faced with a barrage of bewildering ing claims and counterclaims over radio, on television, in newspaper advertisements and also at the points of local purchase. An abundance of free-offers, bonus packages, coupons, slips, cash discounts, sustained purchase designs and other gimmicks sufficient in number to tax the credulity of the intelligent, never ending, always face her. A few hours spent, listening, looking, reading and shopping around at store shelves will support the situation here described.

Where does the farmer come in? That is the big question. He has now become an ill-sharing partner on the American production-processing-packaging-marketing-consumer scheme. The enlarged spread of 85% between himself as a producer and the final consumer as announced from the Farm Secretary's Office is not only a stubborn but frightful thing. Whatever other arguments may be advanced, here is one which possesses the logic of facts. Here is the sensitive nerve which must be touched by competent remedial effort. In all probability, perhaps no statecraft or politician will begin here. That 85% increase spread will be forgotten mid political promises and some new type of subsidy which the American taxpayer will have to pay. Without further venture along the lines we have been pursuing as they relate to the farm and the farmer we can now say

Roy Heller, Mrs. Papillon Are Married

A quiet ceremony at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Justin Feltham of the Anabaptist Methodist Charge marked the wedding of Mrs. Mabel Papillon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dietrich, to Roy Heller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Heller, Fourth St., Stroudsburg, on Thursday at 5 p.m.

The single ring ceremony was used and the couple was unattended. The bride wore a teal blue dress, broadened in silver, with navy blue velvet trim. She wore navy accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in their honor at the home of the bride's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Papillon, Chipperfield Drive for about 30 members of the families. A bouquet of flowers and a three-tier wedding cake centered the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Heller are now on a tour of the southern states. After January 14 they will be at home at 10 Fourth St., Stroudsburg.

The bride is employed at the Stroudsburg Hosiery Co., and the bridegroom is co-owner of the Valley Ribbon Co., East Stroudsburg.

Local MYF To Have Part In District Meet

County members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship will have a share in the big district rally for the whole North District of the Philadelphia Conference to be held Friday and Saturday, January 13 and 14 in Bristol, Pa.

The Pocono Sub-division, which includes the Fellowships of eight county churches, will have charge of the worship service at the meeting. Fred Jones, Stroudsburg, is president of the Pocono subdivision; Douglas Jones, Stroudsburg, is treasurer, and Bill Coberly, Mount Pocono, is secretary.

Each of the eight churches plan to send as many of their young people as possible to the meeting.

The local subdivision is also planning some activities of its own including a county rally to be held January at Mount Pocono; and a square dance for March 9 at the YMCA in Stroudsburg.

Hospital Aux. Today

THE AUXILIARY of the General Hospital of Monroe County will hold a business and social session this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of the president, Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, 919 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Change Meeting Place

The meeting of the ways and means committee of the Order of Eastern Star has been changed to the home of Mrs. Dorothy Linn, 805 Main Street, this Thursday night.

PTA Board Meeting

The executive committee of the Hamilton Township Parent-Teachers Association will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Hamilton School, Scottdale. All executives are urged to attend.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Yesterday's ice storm caused a lot of people a lot of trouble and the ones who weren't bruised from falls were lame from the effort not to fall.

Mentally bruised must have described the condition of the young man who was to have been the speaker at the Woman's Club meeting yesterday afternoon. He'd started out from Philadelphia bravely enough at 9 a.m., but they got involved in a fatal accident near Easton and all the passengers had to wait until all the details of the accident had been cleared, he finally informed the local committee.

That wasn't until way past the meeting time, so when they finally were released, he went back to Philadelphia, his notes still in his pocket and a lot of memories he'd probably just as soon not have.

Not so serious but certainly frustrating was Ginny Robinson's experience on this end. She'd been waiting at the bus station since noon, with no information except that he and the bus had left Philadelphia until the belated bus arrived well after three with the information that he'd gone back.

Meanwhile the woman's club was having a program off the cuff, and enjoying it immensely to all appearances. Two pieces of birthday cake for everybody and enough time to visit besides.

Of course, I doubt if Judy Wells and Mabel Meyers were enjoying the experience of being speakers, willy-nilly, but everybody else was. The theme of the birthday party might have been "There's life in the old club yet!"

Miss Eyer was graduated from Bangor High School and is employed by Magnetic Windings Division in Easton. Her fiancé was graduated from Pen Argil High School and is employed by the Acme Market in Bangor.

Ladies' Lunch Features Beef Stroganoff

Here's Beef Stroganoff—using sweet instead of sour cream.
Beef in Mushroom Sauce
Rice
Green Peas
Tomato Aspic Salad
French Pastry
Beverage

Ingredients: tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 1/4 cups thin strips onion (2 medium-sized onions), 1 pound mushrooms (sliced lengthwise through caps and stems), 2 tablespoons flour, 2 chicken bouillon cubes, 1 1/2 cups boiling water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/4 to 1/2 cup heavy cream, 1 1/4 cups left-over roast beef (cut into strips about 1/4 inch thick and 2 inches long).

Method: Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over moderate heat. Add onions and mushrooms; cook, stirring almost constantly, until wilted. Keep heat high enough so juice does not collect in pan. Stir in flour so it coats mushrooms well. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water and add to skillet with salt and pepper. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened; simmer about 10 minutes longer to reduce sauce somewhat. Stir in lemon juice, then cream; add roast beef and reheat but do not boil. Makes 4 servings. Serve over hot cooked rice.

The Oriental look registers strongly for early spring, late-winter and resort wear. Here it's shown nicely interpreted in a daytime sheath dress of pure silk. The color is green with a blue and yellow design. The silk, by the way, is surah, which is featured in practically every collection.

A border design defines the princess seamed midriff. Boat neckline is used for the front-bodice, while the slim skirt is slit at either side.

New School Plans Discussed By Altar, Rosary

Mount Pocono—The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary of the Mount Roman Catholic Church held their meeting Monday, Jan. 9, in the church hall. In the absence of the president, the meeting was presided over by past president, Miss Marguerite Meiner.

After the devotions which were led by Rev. Alexander Kulik, moderator of the group, there was a short business session dealing mostly with ways and means. The big project at hand is the building of the new school. Miss Meiner reported the card sale a success; all cards were sold.

Tentative plans were made for a spaghetti supper to be held in March.

Refreshments were served at the end of the meeting by Mrs. Evelyn Deubler, Mrs. Yvonne Regan, Mrs. Anna Sables and Mrs. Charlotte McGill.

Grace Guild Meets Tonight

The Woman's Guild of the Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the guild rooms. A report of the nominating committee will be given during the business meeting.

A social hour will follow. Hostesses will be Mrs. Corey Bush, Mrs. Charles Houston, Mrs. Clarence Bond, Mrs. John Schaller, Mrs. Max Smith and Mrs. William Schubert.

Let 'Em Dress Like Girls, Advises Designer

By Dorothy Roe
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls should be girls, says Samuel J. Cohen, who has been manufacturing feminine confections for pint-size glamor girls for more than a generation.

"Little girls should not look like little boys," says Cohen. "Girls of all ages, from 6 to 60, like to dress up. And I say let 'em. Today's young mothers are going a little too far in the interests of practicality when they dress their small daughters in overalls from morning to night. This may be all right for sandpile playing and such, but every little girl has a right to get dressed up some time during the day."

"When Daddy comes home in the evening, he likes to be greeted by glamor girls, not tomboys. If Mom is wearing slacks and little Mary is wearing overalls, where's the glamor?"

Cohen says he thinks girls should be taught to be thoroughly feminine from babyhood. "It's pathetic when a woman forgets the art of womanhood," says he. "That's the thing that attracts and holds the man. He can get his meals in a restaurant and have his socks washed at the laundry. What he comes home for is to enjoy feminine beauty and companionship."

"Little girls should be taught early to be pretty and fastidious." As a case in point, Cohen tells an anecdote about his own small granddaughter, who wanted to put on her party dress and patent leather pumps when she got up one morning. Her mother took the party clothes firmly away and laid out overalls and play shoes. When she next looked, her small daughter was back in bed, remarking: "I guess it's just not worth while getting up today."

Mothers Club Tonight

Mothers' Club of the YMCA will meet tonight at 8 at the YMCA.

The shirtwaist dress carried out in rich material is a surefire success. It makes smart but informal and youthful dinner wear. Here it's shown in silk-satin in ice-blue or white. Tracings of metallic thread embroidery are spaced in irregular bands. This detail provides just enough glitter to give the frock a party despite its tailored lines. The skirt is flared and gathered onto the waist.

John Edinger To Be 96 Tomorrow

John F. Edinger, of 126 Center St., East Stroudsburg, will be celebrating his 96th birthday on Wednesday. Actually, his family helped him celebrate the occasion last Sunday when a dinner was held in his honor at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heller, Stroudsburg.

One of the features of the party was a poem, written in his honor by his son, Albert Edinger, of Elizabethtown, Pa., in which he compared his father's life to an oak.

Mr. Edinger still maintains an active mind in an active body, and while he has given up his hikes over town, he still makes a daily tour of the blocks around his home when the weather is good.

Monotone checked linen is the fabric used for an attractive and useful dress and jacket. It's good for resort wear now and will be at home anywhere later. Ribbed knit cotton makes the collar, the borders and the sleeves of the loose jacket. It also outlines the deep V neckline of the dress and a band down the front. Dress is fastened with buttoned tab at neck and waist, actually a half belt at the waist.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind? Of course not—and I for one would like to go on record right this minute saying how much we at Wyckoff's miss several pleasant, familiar faces that dropped from our store family picture with the beginning of the new year.

The three who decided that now was the time to enjoy a taste of retirement are Mima Warrick, of our handbag department, who became a Wyckoff employee on March 18, 1945; Al Mutchler, who joined our service department in April of 1945; and Elmer Goucher, our furniture refinishing man, who joined the Wyckoff personnel on August 15th, 1935.

My contacts with Mr. Mutchler were, fortunately and unfortunately, few and far between. I say "unfortunately," because I'm told by all who know him that he is a pretty fine person... just as are all the others in our Wyckoff store family. The word "fortunate" is used, because it just points up the fact that my electrical appliances were doing such a perfect job on their own, there was no need to call in George Mackey or any of his helpers.

I know Mima somewhat better. When I first came to Wyckoff's, she was selling shirts and shorts, suits and topcoats, in our men's department. Her background included years of school teaching, and her activities centered around the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church. Being invited to Mima's home was a real treat. If she hadn't been a good saleswoman, she'd have been a good substitute any old time for Elsa Maxwell—for she loves entertaining, and has a knack for making everyone feel at home from the shyest little stranger to the most adult of her guests.

Of the three, I know Elmer Goucher the best of all. It was he who took a table, covered with cream and red paint, that I'd picked up somewhere for $20, and coaxed the beautiful cherry wood back into gleaming saintly splendor. And when I went housekeeping last year this time, it was he who painted my bookcases to match the colors in my draperies... touched up all the scratches suffered by the mahogany chairs and tables during five years of storage and miles of moving... and who actually rebuilt the front of one credenza drawer that had suffered quite a beating.

We are going to miss all of them. Mima has already been back once to give us a hand in the men's department when unexpected illness occurred and the customary extra was not available. But Elmer is probably busy at home pursuing his hobby of creating and refinishing furniture... and I like to picture Al spending these icy, cold days comfortably by the fire. Our best wishes are with all three, and we are happy in the knowledge that their feelings toward our store are equally warm. As much as we wish them happiness in retirement, we like to think they miss us a little. They probably do—you can't break your ties with Wyckoff's easily.

Mobile Living Outlined By Yetter Expert

Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from "Mobile Living" and is made available through Van D. Yetter Jr., local mobile homes dealer.
(The author, J. Lee Brown, and his wife are two of America's outstanding pioneers in mobile living. He built his first coach in an effort to solve the serious health problem of his wife. He finished their first coach in September, 1929, and headed to the warm, dry climate of the Southwest. Mrs. Brown's health was restored. Her husband was fascinated by this new way of life and the many fine opportunities it offered. It was then he took an active interest in the infant mobilehome business.)

AS I AM seated in an office on the 11th floor of the Miner National Bank in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, I can see for miles down the Wyoming Valley with the mountains flaming beauty, as the sun shines on the foliage that has taken on its autumn hues.

"My thoughts turn back through the years of mobile living to all parts of the U. S. A. and Canada. They go back to where one finds unforgettable sights; to name a few, Williamsburg, Virginia where yesterday is still alive today; Washington, D. C., our Nation's Capital which every American should visit; the French quarter of New Orleans; or one of the many National Parks.

"A person may spend months of travel with every mile bringing the thrills of viewing points of interest and historic sights together with a greater understanding of American life.

Backyard Sights
"All this is awaiting the American tourist. Many such sights are located in your own backyard. You may not be aware of them, yet thousands of tourists travel miles to visit your town or state.

"We have found that in order to see America and enjoy real comfort in travel, the mobilehome way is the only way because you can go where you please, stay as long as you like with no worry of where you will sleep or whether the food is good. These problems are solved because you have your own home with you.

"The modern mobilehome has all the conveniences to be found in any efficiency apartment.

"As I think of the millions of people who are retiring each year, I wonder how many have plans for their future after spending most of their lives on their jobs, then becoming idle. I know some have planned to travel, others have some hobby to keep them occupied, while many have no definite plans. To the latter and to those who are planning to travel, may I suggest you investigate the "Mobilehome Way."

"We have found that in the South, Southwest and West where most of our retired people go for the winter months, a majority of the cities have large tourist recreation centers where people from the four corners of the country and all walks of life meet and enjoy play and sport which was denied them during their working years.

Daily Programs
"Most of the large coach courts have a daily program for their guests to keep them busy and interested; horse shoe and shuffleboard courts provide some of the leading pastimes. In the evenings the card parties and old time dances aid in developing friendship among the finest people on earth. For here in our mobilehome communities you find the old time community spirit of neighborliness which seems to have passed in later years—the very thing that built America and made it the greatest country in the world."

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

THERE WAS NO joy in East Stroudsburg last Friday night, but there was surprise in abundance. The surprise element stemmed from the fact that Fountain Hill outscored East Stroudsburg High 26-0 in the second quarter of their Lehigh-Northampton League basketball game. The basketball experts maintain that this is virtually an impossibility in the modern game. But, it actually happened on the Fountain Hill court. Needless to say, Fountain Hill scored a 72-39 victory.

The entire game was wrapped up in the second period. During the other three quarters Fountain Hill enjoyed a victory margin, but it was much narrower, 46-39. East Stroudsburg has been in the grasp of a terrific scoring slump and modern basketball played without points is just plain suicide. The Cavaliers opened the season with an offense that was good enough to run up four straight victories without a defeat.

Yet, in the last three contests it hasn't been the same story. The Cavaliers have been able to win one of the three games, but have scored only 118 points in 12 periods. This is an average of less than 10 points per quarter, which to say the least isn't winning basketball. Dick Gray's 15-point outburst against Fountain Hill on Friday was almost half the number of counters credited to the Cavaliers.

Fountain Hill used an "all court press" to stop the Cavaliers in their tracks. As pointed out yesterday, both East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg will learn to lick this type of defense before the season ends, as it is probably the only one they will face for the remainder of the campaign. The N. Courtland St. quintet is still boasting a winning record, five and two, and will probably rack up many more wins.

But, the Cavaliers will have to lick the scoring jinx that has been hanging over them in recent weeks. Against Northampton the charges of Coach Dick Forster came up with only six points in the opening round, followed with seven in the second, eight in the third and nine in the fourth. The following contest, against Phillipsburg, found the Cavaliers picking up only three markers in the first eight minutes, but coming back strong enough to rack up 49 counters and win the game. Last Friday they switched from the first to the second quarter as far as the famine is concerned.

One reason for the tapering off of East Stroudsburg's scoring appears to be the fact that the N. Courtland St. Cagers aren't doing the job on the backboard that they were doing earlier in the campaign. If the Cavaliers regain their early season form they can still do a lot of damage. East Stroudsburg is very much in the current championship race and its play for the balance of the first half will be the big factor in crowning the first half champion.

East Stroudsburg will have to be in good form tonight, as the purple and white color bearers play a new Pen Argyl quintet on the N. Courtland St. hardwood. Pen Argyl broke a streak of 36 straight Lehigh-Northampton League defeats on Friday with a 75-59 verdict over Coplay. Now that Pen Argyl has tasted victory, the green and white clad cagers will be tougher than ever. Congratulations are in order for Ed "Jake" Palmer, now in his second year as basketball coach at Pen Argyl. He's a former East Stroudsburg State Teachers College star.

Monroe County League basketball fans were more than slightly surprised at Chestnut Hill's 48-47 victory over previously undefeated Pocono on Friday. But, it happened and once again weakness on the backboards was a major factor in Pocono's defeat. The charges of Coach Harry Werkheiser grabbed only 11 rebounds and only four during the first and second periods.

Chestnut Hill, defending champion, will be tough for the balance of the season. Last year's title holder, coached by Bill Frear, has been plagued by injuries, illness and ineffectualities all season. Even on Friday Frear went to the post with only four regulars. Dick Berfass, regular forward, was out of the lineup because of illness. But, Earl Everett played his first game of the season after recovering from a fractured jaw and turned in a fine performance. The MCL now appears headed toward one of its best championship dashes in history.

ESSTC Battles Montclair Foe

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teachers College will open a home stand of three straight basketball games today, when the victory thirsty Warriors play host to Montclair Teachers. The game will be played on the Normal Hill hardwood.

Junior varsity activity between the two schools is slated for 7:15 p. m., with the main event on the program at approximately 8:30 p. m.

ESSTC has lost three of its first four games and would like nothing better than a sweep of the next three home contests.

Coach Jerry Palaia lost its opening game of the season on the home court at Millersville, but bounced back on the same floor to hang a 78-71 licking on West Chester. Otherwise the Warriors have gone down to defeat at the hands of Trenton and Kutztown, on the latter's home courts.

Palaia, naturally disturbed by his last two defeats, plans only one lineup change for today's tussle with Montclair. The switch will find Charley Galambos at one of the guard spots in place of Mike Sentelik. Galambos earned the starting position by his brilliant performance during the second half against Kutztown last Saturday night.

The remainder of the starting lineup will have Wilmont Smith and Walter "Moose" Bjorn at the forward posts and high scoring Kelly McLaughlin at center. Hal Mihalik will open at the other guard position.

Steve Oliveri, Sentelik and Jack Burke are other Warriors virtually certain of seeing action tonight. Tom Spillane, Ed Brewer, Howard "Howie" Case, Charley Stouffer and Frank Johannes are other members of the ESSTC squad ready to enter the battle at a moments notice.

McLaughlin has scored 128 points in four games, good for an average of 32 markers a game.

ESSTC plays host to Panzer College on Friday and King's College next Monday.

Devore Accepts Three-Year Contract To Coach Eagles

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (AP)—Hugh Devore, 43, of Dayton University today accepted the post of Philadelphia Eagles head coach, with National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell turning the trick.

Devore announced last night that he had rejected the job of replacing Jim Trimble—fired after a disappointing 1955 season. Today, Bell—during a Chicago stop-over on his way to the league draft session on the West Coast—telephoned Devore at his West Orange, N.J., home and convinced him to change his mind.

Bell reportedly told Devore he was badly needed to bring the Eagles back to their former position of prominence in the professional loop. Bell's arguments must have been good, for Devore had insisted previously that he was set at Dayton, that he had a going thing there, that he wanted to stick with it.

Details of Devore's contract were not disclosed immediately but he reportedly was offered between $15,000 and $18,000 a year with a three-year pact.

He had been described in an Associated Press story last week as the most probable choice for the job. Today, an Eagle spokesman said "he was the only coach we offered a contract to."

In Devore, the Eagles will be getting a veteran of the grid wars. Before going to Dayton in 1954, he coached at his alma mater—Notre Dame—and at Providence, Fordham, St. Bonaventure, New York University, Holy Cross and with the Green Bay Packers of the NFL.

Waymart Continues To Show Power In Wayne Conference

HONESDALE — Waymart continued unbeaten in Wayne County Basketball Conference play Friday night by downing defending champion Moscow, 65-53, on the Waymart floor, to remain atop both divisions of the loop. Four consecutive WCC wins give the Warriors a 3-0 record in both halves.

In other games, all in the Northern Division, Honesdale eased past Preston, 44-41; Hawley whipped Pleasant Mount, 60-42 and Lake Ariel breezed against Damascus, 66-40.

As usual, big Joe Costolnick paced the Warrior scoring, this time with 22 markers, as Pat Walsh's charges built a commanding 39-21 lead at halftime and won handily although outscored four points in each of the last two quarters. Tommy Smalles was top man for the Trojans with 24 points.

Lake Ariel's regulars split the scoring, with Jim Eisenhauer's 15

Helfand Files Charges Against London Club

By Jack Hand
NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, ordered his counsel to file charges against the Monday night fight promoters at St. Nicholas Arena today as he heaped additional rewards for his victory over the Boxing Guild of New York.

Although Helfand approved a January 16 match for St. Nick's, he said he had instructed that charges be pressed against promoters Tex Sullivan and Willie Gilzenberg and their London Sporting Club "on the Maryland situation and other matters."

Helfand said last Thursday he intended to call a hearing to find out if Sullivan and Gilzenberg violated the law forbidding association with known criminals when they sought to transfer

NORTH	W.	L.	Pct.
Waymart	4	0	1.000
Lake Ariel	4	1	.800
Hawley	3	1	.750
Honesdale	2	2	.500
Pleasant Mount	1	3	.333
Preston	0	4	.000
Damascus	0	4	.000

Jim Gellatt, holder of the conference record for high single game scoring, had a mere 22 points against the Mounties but his mates clipped in with plenty to win going away in a game that was close for three quarters. Jimmy O'Neill's 13 markers were tops for the losers.

Bill Ludwig and Jerry Seibert, with 14 and 12 points respectively, were high for Honesdale as a 10-6 edge in the final eight minutes gave the Hornets their second win against a pair of losses in loop play. High man in the game, however, was Preston's Tad Upright with 18 points.

Six games are cranked this week, three each today and Friday, today finds Greene-Dreher-Sterling making its first WCC start at Moscow, Pleasant Mount plays host to Honesdale and Preston meets Waymart at the Warrior's home base. Friday's listing features Damascus at Preston, Pleasant Mount at Waymart and Lake Ariel at Greene-Dreher-Sterling.

Three Matches Slated

THREE matches are slated for the East Stroudsburg Ladies League at Harmon's Recreation today at 6:45 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Russ' Restaurant vs. Zacher's.

Alleys three and four—Town Tavern vs. Square Bar.

Alleys five and six—Farber's Inn vs. Eagles.

Little League Meeting

A MEETING of the Stroudsburg Little League will take place at the Monroe County YMCA on Thursday, at 8 p.m.

San Francisco, Dayton Pace AP Poll

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.
The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO and Dayton, the two biggies which remained undefeated while the opposition and the league of averages caught up with the other college basketball powers ran 1-2 in the national rankings in this week's Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Virtually monopolizing the first and second place votes, these two teams ran far out in front in the balloting while North Carolina State skidded to a poor third after losing its first game of this season.

Out of 118 ballots cast this week, 94 first place votes and 16 seconds went to the defensively potent San Francisco Dons, who walked off with the National Collegiate championship last season and now are hot on the trail of the record for successive basketball victories.

Scoring

Dayton's flyers, like the Dons, unbeaten in 11 games this season, drew 12 of the other first place votes and 76 for second. Reduced to points on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc., that came out to 1,145 points for San Francisco and 1,026 for Dayton.

North Carolina State, its winning streak broken by Duke last Saturday, wound up in third place with only 692 points.

Vanderbilt's Commodores, who won two games without giving particularly impressive performances, clung to fourth place, followed by Kentucky, Duke, Ohio State, Illinois, North Carolina and Temple.

The second 10: Holy Cross, Indiana, Louisville, George Washington, Iowa State, Oklahoma City, Memphis State, Wake Forest, Alabama and (tie) Utah and Cincinnati.

Bangor Meets Fountain Hill

BANGOR—Bangor High will do battle with Fountain Hill, one of the top basketball teams in the Lehigh-Northampton League, on the Fountain Hill court today.

Junior varsity play is set for 6:30 p.m., while the varsity quintets clash at approximately 8 p.m.

Coach John Heard announced last night that high scoring Don Keat and Jim Freeman will be at the forward posts and either Jim Warrick or Ed Trysies at center. Gary Strauss and "Jahby" Williams will man the guard posts.

Archers To Hold Meeting

ALL MEMBERS of the Pocono Archery Club are asked to attend a meeting at the George N. Kemp American Legion Post at 8 p.m. today.

Archers are asked to come prepared for shooting as finishing touches will be put on the new indoor range.

their operations from New York to Baltimore, effective January 23. The Baltimore deal was nullified when Maryland Gov. McKeldin asked his commission to revoke its permission.

Despite the fact that Helfand set a January 16 deadline for all guild managers to divorce themselves from the organization or lose their licenses, he said he approved a January 16 match because he thought it "necessary not to penalize the fighters or anyone else connected with it." Contracts for the middleweight match between John L. Sullivan of England and Tony Johnson of New York were on file with the commission while Helfand was vacationing in Florida.

Helfand said he would ask charges be filed "as soon as possible so that the case could be heard next week." He said he would approve additional matches for St. Nick's pending a decision on the case, providing the managers involved signed affidavits they were resigning from the Guild.

Adelmann Finished For Entire Season

STROUDSBURG High's basketball squad took on the aspect of a big question mark last night, as Coach John Kupice began searching for five able bodied players to send against a strong Northampton High squad today. The Lehigh Valley League tussle is scheduled for the W. Main St. court.

Bob Adelmann, regular member of the Stroudsburg squad for the first six games, is reportedly finished with basketball for the entire campaign because of a low blood count.

Tom Savidge, the number two scorer among the Mountaineers, missed practice yesterday and is reportedly a member of the sick list. This means that Kupice will have to shake his squad well to find a starting array of talent to face a Northampton quintet that has won both of its circuit starts to date.

Doug Shook, who tied the school scoring mark at 33 points against Slatington last Friday, is a certain starter at center, while Savidge will be at one forward spot if physically able. Don Hickey will be the other forward. Doug Nichols will man one guard position, while Don "Uckie" Setzer, Ron "Super" Phillips and Tom Williams wage a battle for the remaining starting berth.

Al Driebe and Jimmy Welsh are other Mountaineers expected to see service against the Konkrete Kids today. This is the third straight league game played at home by Stroudsburg.

Playing Mark

The Mountaineers are featuring a record of two wins and five setbacks, including two defeats and no victories against circuit opposition.

Jerry Simcoe, Northampton's brilliant forward, will lead the Konkrete Kids in search of their third Lehigh Valley League victory. Simcoe has been one of the league's top scorers for the past two campaigns.

The junior varsity contest is on the agenda for 6:45 p. m., while the varsities match abilities at 8:15 p. m.

Shook is currently tied with Don Sachs, Emmaus, for the scoring leadership in the Lehigh Valley League, each having carded 45 points in two games. Shook has converted 20 field goals and five foul shots, while Sachs has hit from the floor on 17 occasions and from the foul line 11 times.

Savidge and Kenneth Thiboston, Slatington, are deadlocked for 10th place in the scoring derby with 31 points.

Palmerston and Slatington, tied for first place with Northampton, will battle at Slatington's Smith Hall tonight, while Lehighton invades Emmaus and Whitehall plays at Catawagua.

Scoring figures follow:

Shook, Stroudsburg	G.	G.	F.	T.
Sachs, Emmaus	2	17	11	43
Miky, Palmerston	2	18	8	44
Simcoe, Northampton	2	17	7	41

Mangrum Sets Record

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum captured the $30,000 Los Angeles Open today, scoring one over par 72 for a record 72-hole score of 272 to become the second golfer in the 30 editions of the event to win the tournament four times.

The colorful Mangrum was more the scrapper than the gambler on the final day of the tournament, but his performance was good enough to turn back the threat first of Tommy Bolt and then little Jerry Barber.

Only the late MacDonald Smith, back in 1928-29-32-34, was able to win this event four times, and prior to today, only Mangrum and Ben Hogan had achieved the feat three times.

Injury

Mangrum, 41, who came off the shelf after a rib injury and a layoff from golf since last spring, hit the $6,000 first prize jackpot three strokes ahead of his nearest rival at the finish, Barber. Bolt was third.

Mangrum broke the tournament record for the 72-hole distance, the 273 registered in 1938 by Jimmy Thomson at Griffith Park Municipal Park.

Barber pulled ahead of Bolt on the final nine holes in the struggle for $3,200 second place money, with Bolt settling for $2,200.

Scorers of Pennsylvanians include: Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, 286, and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe.

CHAMPIONS—Gilbert "Gib" Bachman and Bob Rogers, manager and secretary of the Saylorburg baseball team, are pictured above holding the rotating trophy donated by the Pocono Mountain League. Eastburg Host To Pen Argyl

EAST Stroudsburg High will attempt to snap back into the Lehigh-Northampton League win column today against Pen Argyl, a club that won its first circuit basketball game in almost three years last Friday. The contest will be played in the N. Courtland St. gymnasium.

The Cavaliers suffered a 72-39 reversal at the hands of Fountain Hill last Friday. The loss was their first against league opposition as compared to two victories.

East Stroudsburg will be home twice this week, as the Cavaliers are also booked with a strong Nazareth club on Friday.

Coach Dick Forster said last night that Jim Kindrew, a member of the Eastburg junior varsity through the first seven games, will be promoted to the varsity and probably see action in tonight's contest.

But, Forster plans to stick with the same lineup that took it on the chin against Fountain Hill.

This means that Co-Captain Danny Marvin and Bob Notz will be at the forward posts and Jim Kimler at center. Co-Captain Dick Gray and Dale Metzgar are slated to handle the opening guard assignments.

Tony Harlacher, King Beers, Elwood "Woody" Mosteller and Les Bernbaum are other Cavaliers with a good chance of appearing against Pen Argyl. The Cavaliers didn't practice yesterday due to the fact that school was closed.

Pen Argyl will enter today's contest with one victory and two defeats.

Junior varsity activity is carded for 6:30 p.m., while the varsity contingents open hostilities at approximately 8 p.m.

Other Lehigh-Northampton League action tonight will send Bangor to Fountain Hill, Coplay to Nazareth and Wilson Borough to Nazareth. Parkland enjoys an open date.

Don Keat, Bangor's polished forward, is leading the circuit in scoring with an even 100 points in three games, according to figures released yesterday.

Scoring figures follow:

	G.	G.	F.	T.

Pocono Lake Falls Before Gray's Cage Machine, 63-54

TANNERSVILLE — Gray's Chevrolet remained in a first place tie with the Stroudsburg Poconos last night with a 63-54 decision over Pocono Lake here on the Pocono High court. The game was the first half of a doubleheader.

The win was the second without a loss for Gray's club, while Pocono Lake has lost both of its outings to date.

Ray Steele led the winning attack with 22 points, all coming on 11 goals from the field.

Poconos Take Measure Of Besecker's Club

TANNERSVILLE — Stroudsburg Poconos retained a first place tie in the Pocono Mountains League with an 88-67 verdict over Al Besecker's Diner in the nightcap of a basketball doubleheader here at Pocono High School last night.

The victory was the second without a loss for the Poconos, while the Dinermen now feature a mark of one win and a single setback.

Jack Newell, Carl Adelmann and Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman led the Poconos to a decided scoring edge in the first and third periods. This total offset anything the Besecker club could do in the second and final periods.

Foul Shooting

The Poconos enjoyed a 38-23 advantage in field goals, and connected on 12 of 19 charity tosses. The Dinermen connected on 21 of 31 free throws.

Don Miller, with 15 points, and Jim Werkheiser and Harry Warner, each with 13 markers, led the losing scoring parade.

Summary Of President Eisenhower's Nine-Point Program For Farm Recovery

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Here is a summary of the nine points of President Eisenhower's farm program, under the headings he gave them in his message today:

1. THE SOIL BANK—This would be designed to reduce present surpluses and prevent future ones, while building up farm resources for the future. Farmers who cooperated by withdrawing land from unnecessary production would get benefits in the form of cash or commodities drawn from present surpluses.

2. SURPLUS DISPOSAL—The sale of surplus stocks would be permitted to Iron Curtain countries as well as friendly nations. There would be an expanded effort to barter perishable farm products for nonperishable strategic materials. Surpluses could be sold in this country at lower prices than the law now permits.
3. STRENGTHENING COMMODITY PROGRAMS—Farmers who use on their farms all the wheat they produce would be freed from wheat marketing quotas. More of the smaller wheat-producing states would be exempted from wheat control programs. Some of the government's lower quality milling surplus wheat would be sold for livestock feed. The basis for determining the support price of cotton would be the average quality and grade of the cotton crop. The special school milk program would be extended and expanded.
4. DOLLAR LIMIT ON PRICE SUPPORTS—Congress would consider a limit on the size of price support loans to any one individual or farming unit.
5. RURAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM—Eisenhower urged that his program for helping with the problems of low income farm families, which he submitted last April, be put fully into effect.
6. THE GREAT PLAINS PROGRAM—Greater federal aid would be provided to help stabilize agriculture in the drought-plagued Great Plains.

7. RESEARCH—A 25 per cent increase in funds for research for new crops, new uses and new markets for farmers. This would raise the total to 163 million dollars.
8. CREDIT—Development of an agricultural credit program that would assure farmers of an adequate supply of credit at all times.
9. GASOLINE TAX—The federal tax on gasoline, two cents a gallon, would be applied to gasoline bought by farmers for use on the farm. Officials estimate this would save farmers 60-million-dollars a year.

German Industry Boosts Advertising
BRUNSWICK, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—The West German camera industry plans to boost its advertising abroad in 1956 to meet growing Japanese competition. This is the word from A. Oehme, director of the Voigtlaender camera plant. He said of three million cameras produced in West Germany last year, 60 per cent were exported. The industry plans to concentrate on the American market.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Burgess' Vote Breaks Tie For Treasurer
RANGOR — Borough Council reorganized last night in one of the most peppery, spirited meetings in its history.

Primary reason: Council is now made up of an even split—six Democrats and six Republicans. The Burgess is a Democrat. Last night his vote was needed to break one tie and might have been needed to break another if it hadn't been for the fact that one Republican didn't vote.

Burgess Hayden Pritchard opened the meeting. He called for nominations for president of council. Two men were nominated, one from each party.

The nominees were Walter Warrick, Republican and Ralph Erdman, Democrat. Erdman was elected on the first vote. He got six votes to Warrick's five. David Price, veteran GOP councilman (he's been on council for 16 years) abstained from voting.

Then Pritchard called for nominees for the treasurer's post. Again there were two names submitted: Shervod and Evans, Republican and Charles Steinmetz, Democrat.

Members voted to a 6-6 tie the first time. They did the same thing on the second ballot. And they did a repeat on the third.

Finally Burgess Pritchard, also a veteran and a Democrat, cast his tie-breaking vote for Steinmetz. The town treasurer recently retired as Northampton County prothonotary after a long period of activity in county politics.

Council's most decisive split vote came in the election of the borough solicitor. Here J. Lawrence Davis, a Republican, won over Edmund Turzilo, the Democratic nominee, by an 8-4 vote.

Came time to select the borough supervisor and it developed that Walter Pritchard, a Republican, was the one nominee. Looked for awhile as though he'd be elected without opposition.

Newly-elected Democratic Councilman William Holland moved to "table the election of supervisor" until the next meeting. The motion itself got tabled a little later (and withdrawn) after a quarter-hour of discussion. Holland took back his motion and Pritchard was named to the post. Unanimously, too. He's been supervisor the past 14 years.

David O. Pritchard also got a unanimous vote. He was the only nominee for the post of borough engineer. This will be his 30th year in the post.

Council chambers were filled at last night's meeting with about 40 visitors. An observer said that most of those attending the meeting were relatives of the new council members who had come to watch them get sworn in.

Most Heart Experts Say Ike Is Okay
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sixty per cent of the heart specialists who answered a questionnaire on President Eisenhower's health say he "can be regarded as physically able to serve a second term."

The results of the poll questionnaires were sent to 444 doctors certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine as heart specialists. The poll was published today in a copyrighted article in U.S. News & World Report, weekly news magazine.

Doctors had been advised by the Journal of the American Medical Assn. that the questionnaire "should be tossed into the wastebasket" to prevent "the hysteria such information could foment."

The poll that 275 doctors, or about 62 percent, replied, although some of them did not give direct answers to both, the basic questions.

Here are the two questions asked and the replies, as given by the magazine:

"Based on what you have read about the nature of the President's illness, and assuming a normal convalescence in the next few months, do you think Mr. Eisenhower can be regarded as physically able to serve a second term?"

Yes: 141, or 60.3 per cent; No: 93, or 39.7 per cent.

"Do you think a man who has suffered a heart attack can be regarded as physically able to serve a term as president?"

Yes: 152, or 64.4 per cent; No: 84, or 35.6 per cent.

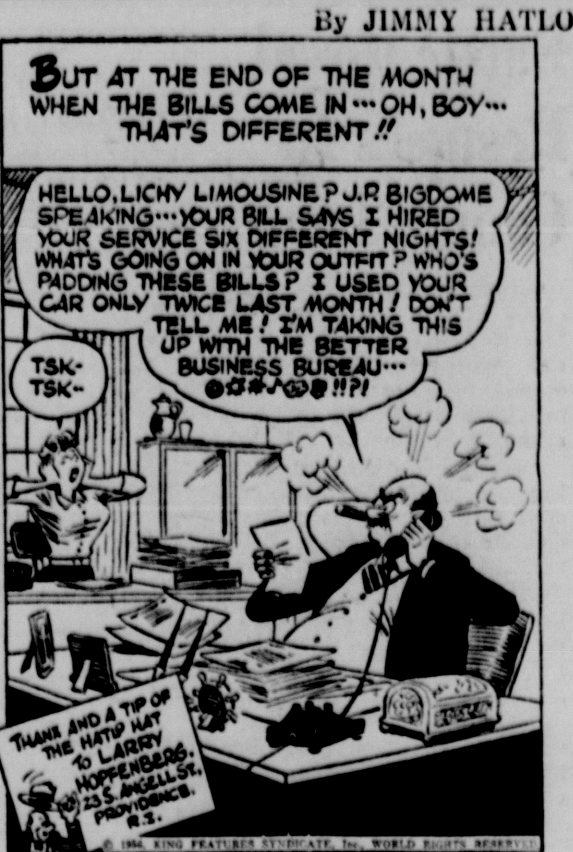

No doctors' names were used by the magazine, nor did the research group ask that replies be signed.

Get-Rich-Quick Dreams Deflated
NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Henry Ford 2nd said today that people who hope to get rich quick by buying Ford stock are indulging in "wishful thinking."

Addressing a meeting of some 1,000 investment bankers here, the president of Ford Motor Co. said he was "reasonably sure" that the company would not experience as good a year in 1956 as in record 1955.

Earthquake Felt In California
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9 (AP)—An earthquake in the Daly City and Coma area awakened dozens of persons at 3:10 a.m. today. There was no damage. It was felt in San Francisco's Ingleside District and at suburban Westlake.

Budget Increase
RAOAT, French Morocco, Jan. 9 (AP)—The budget for this French North African protectorate for 1956 will total 124 billion francs ($354,286,170), an increase of 6,300,000 francs (18 million dollars) over last year. No breakdown of spending or revenues was available.

New Regime Takes Over In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 9 (AP)—A new government took over in Jordan today under royal injunction to stamp out disorder and clean up "disturbing elements." Including civil service employees, which have kept the country in an uproar over the Baghdad Pact.

American and official sources said the 14,000-man Arab Legion, Jordan's crack army, was in firm control and the country calm after a weekend of rioting and demonstrations. Only minor demonstrations were reported today. One included the stoning of an American Quaker hospital at Ajloun in eastern Jordan.

(During the disorders, the State Department in Washington reported, the U. S. Marine guard fired in the air Saturday and with other personnel repelled a mob attack on the U. S. consulate in the Jordan-administered section of Jerusalem.

Money Paid By Reds
(Washington officials and a British Foreign Office spokesman charged that money was paid by Communist sources to foment the anti-pact disorders and that there were indications Egyptian and Saudi Arabian sources had a hand in encouraging them.)

All Americans were reported safe, including the 300 who normally live in Amman. Many lived there in the Philadelphia Hotel, partly burned Saturday.

The new premier is Samir el Rifai, a deputy premier in the outgoing government who changed places with Ibrahim Hashem. Hashem, Premier of a caretaker regime that had promised to stay out of pacts and hold a new general election in four months, resigned Saturday and now becomes deputy premier.

Barracks
El Rifai also promised not to lead the country into any pacts, to restore order and to uphold the Arab's place in Palestine. In his instructions to the new premier, 21-year-old King Hussein also told him to safeguard good relations with Arab states and all friendly nations, build up defense forces to protect the country's borders and clean the civil service of all "disturbing elements."

Pleas Entered By 2 Men In Brink's Holdup

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—Two men captured after a $150,000 holdup of a Brink's armored truck last August pleaded guilty today to charges of first-degree robbery. Judge Jacob Latona of Erie County Court deferred sentencing of Sylvester Mazella, 46, of the Bronx, and Anthony Pattenino, 39, of Baltimore, pending a probation report. The sentence for a first offender convicted of first-degree robbery can run from 10 to 30 years.

A third man identified by police as Eugene Newman, 30, of New York City, still is sought. The truck was held up Aug. 3 just after being driven into Brink's garage on Buffalo's west side. The trio fled with a chest containing $150,000 in race track receipts from Fort Erie, Ont. They dropped it as Brink's guards and police pursued them. Mazella and Pattenino were captured after a gun fight.

Two Shield Faces In Bank Holdup

SAUGUS, Mass., Jan. 9 (AP)—Two gunmen—one wearing a rubber mask and the other holding a handkerchief over his face—held up the Saugus Trust Co. today and escaped with about $10,000. A bank official estimated the amount taken but said an accurate check had not been made.

The holdup men herded 11 bank employees and a dozen customers into a bookkeeper's room before scooping the money from tellers' cash drawers.

Acme Hose Confined Losses In 1955 To .006% Of Values

NO ONE CAN REALLY assess the value of the work volunteer firemen do during a year's time.

But there are some good yardsticks to go by. The annual fire company report is the biggest of these. Sometimes the reports show some astonishing figures.

In East Stroudsburg, for example, Acme Hose Co. was worth $206,150 to borough residents during 1955. This figure includes only the company's activities in the field of actual firefighting. The annual report contains only a fleeting reference to the work firemen did during the August flood.

During 1955 the hose company answered 36 alarms in the borough. The estimated value of the property involved in these fires is $207,500—of which $164,000 is building value and $43,500 is the value of contents.

Actual damage to the buildings and contents combined totaled only $1,350 during the year—$800 to buildings; $550 to contents.

Savings of $206,150
Net result: Acme Hose Co. firemen saved property owners at the 36 locations $206,150 in one year's time. It means also that volunteers, giving up their own time without cost to taxpayers, kept losses down to only six-tenths of one percent of the total value of the threatened property.

To fight the 36 fires successfully, the company laid 4100 feet of two and one-half inch hose, 300 feet of one and one-half inch hose and 5,000 feet of one inch booster-type hose. They also: raised 380 feet of ladder to fight fires in larger buildings; used nine CO₂ (chemical) tanks and 27 P cans.

Two major engine services were required during the year. There were 26 booster services in the same length of time.

Counting all the men reporting to all the fires a total of 1,378 men responded to alarms—an average of 37 men on each fire. The firemen spent 1,171 total man hours fighting the fires.

32 Hours On Duty
The company spent a total of 32 hours in fire-fighting during the year—an average of 51 minutes per fire.

Most of the 36 fires occurred during the hours from noon to midnight. According to the company report 17 alarms were turned in between noon and 6 p.m.; 11 were reported between 6 p.m. and midnight. Two more were turned in between midnight and 6 a.m. and from the latter hour to noon, seven other alarms were reported.

A total of 14 fires occurred in buildings of various kinds—eight in dwellings, two in hotels, one in a factory, one in a bakery and two in business places. The remaining fires were: two in autos on highways, six rubbish fires, nine grass fires.

Actually the company answered only 31 calls in which fires were involved. The reason: there were five "false alarms" during the year.

Carelessness No. 1
The major cause of fire outbreak in 1955 was the same as it had been previously: carelessness. The company reports that 11 of the fires could be attributed to this human failing.

Other causes: four due to defective chimneys; two to faulty ignition wiring in cars; one to an overloaded motor; one to defective wiring in a building; five to defective heating systems; five to burning rubbish and one "cause unknown."

The borough had one fire due to a common and often-joked-about mistake in 1955.

One fire was caused by "smoking in bed."

Recommended Steps Studied By Commission

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (AP)—The state Fish Commission today took under consideration a detailed report of a special management consulting firm recommending scores of major revisions in the three million dollar agency's business practices.

"We believe most of the Heller recommendations can be adopted and in time put into effect," said R. Stanley Smith, Ways and Means, commission president.

Commissioners spent all day going over parts of the report with representatives of Robert Heller & Associates, the Cleveland management firm that made the six-week study at a $7,500 fee.

One of the chief recommendations arrived at by the Ohio firm was that the commission's wardens in the field be given specific fisheries management as well as enforcement responsibility. The study found that over the years duties of the wardens have been broadened so widely that only 45 per cent of their working time is now spent on enforcement.

Under the suggested change wardens would continue enforcement duties and specifically would be charged with studying water conditions, making creek checks, stocking fish, rescuing fish, investigating pollution complaints and studying mine drainage matters.

per cent of their working time is now spent on enforcement.

Under the suggested change wardens would continue enforcement duties and specifically would be charged with studying water conditions, making creek checks, stocking fish, rescuing fish, investigating pollution complaints and studying mine drainage matters.

"A COMFORTABLE OLD AGE IS THE REWARD OF A WELL SPENT YOUTH"
(Author's name below)

One of the reasons why the youth of today will have a more comfortable old age is the increased use of vitamins. Your children will live longer because you have been giving them vitamins from their very birth.

We carry hundreds of different vitamin combinations in stock and each one is carefully stored to best protect its potency. Many of them are refrigerated. All of them are the products of pharmaceutical chemists of high reputation.

State Court Admits Marsh To Practice

JAMES ROBERTSON Marsh, 28, Stroudsburg attorney, was formally admitted to practice before the State Supreme Court yesterday.

Marsh was sworn in by Chief Justice Horace Stern in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon at 1:30. The ceremony took place in the City Hall building.

The local attorney is associated with C. D. Shull in Stroudsburg. He has been practicing law here for the past year.

Marsh is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School, class of 1945. He was graduated from Muhlenberg College in 1950. He then went to Temple University Law School in Philadelphia; graduating from there in early 1954.

Pocono FFA Reports On Stamp Sales

TANNERSVILLE—Pocono High School Future Farmers of America boys sold $1,276 worth of U. S. savings stamps last year.

John Montgomery, chapter adviser, said the entire amount was sold by the students in 10-cent and 25-cent denominations.

Sale of the stamps was one of the projects undertaken by the chapter during the year. To encourage students to purchase the stamps the FFA members constructed and erected a special booth in the hallway at the school.

Members also sold stamps in the community, visiting homes and business houses to make the stamps available.

Margaret Sketch Creates Sensation

MANCHESTER, England, Jan. 9 (AP)—A pencil sketch by Princess Margaret of a frilly Austrian peasant dress is the hit of a theatrical exhibition in Manchester's public library.

Margaret did the sketch as a fashion-conscious teen-ager to show what she wanted for a pantomime staged at Windsor Castle in 1944. The owner of the fashion store which made the dress saved the drawing and lent it for the library exhibition.

The puma, panther, cougar, catamount, mountain lion and American lion are all the same animal.
